In their dealings with the public, Civil Service Departments and Public Service offices will:

1. Quality Service Standards

Publish a statement that outlines the nature and quality of service which the customer can expect, and display it prominently at the point of service delivery.

2. Equality/Diversity

Ensure the rights to equal treatment established by equality legislation, and accommodate diversity, so as to contribute to equality for the groups covered by the equality legislation (under the grounds of gender, marital status, family status, sexual orientation, religious belief, age, disability, race and membership of the Traveller Community). Identify and work to eliminate barriers to access to services for people experiencing poverty and social exclusion, and for those facing geographic barriers to services.

3. Physical Access

Provide clean, accessible public offices that ensure privacy, comply with occupational and safety standards and, as part of this, facilitate access for people with disabilities and others with specific needs.

4. Information

Take a proactive approach in providing information that is clear, timely and accurate, is available at all points of contact, and meets the requirements of people with specific needs. Ensure that the potential offered by Information Technology is fully availed of and that the information available on public service websites follows the guidelines on web publication. Continue the drive for simplification of rules, regulations, forms, information leaflets and procedures.

5. Timeliness and Courtesy

Deliver quality services with courtesy, sensitivity and the minimum delay, fostering a climate of mutual respect between provider and customer.

Give contact names in all communications to ensure ease of ongoing transactions.

6. Complaints

Maintain a well-publicised, accessible, transparent and simple-to-use system of dealing with complaints about the quality of service provided.

7. Appeals

Similarly, maintain a formalised, well-publicised, accessible, transparent and simple-to-use system of appeal/review for customers who are dissatisfied with decisions in relation to services.

8. Consultation and Evaluation

Provide a structured approach to meaningful consultation with, and participation by, the customer in relation to the development, delivery and review of services. Ensure meaningful evaluation of service delivery.

9. Choice

Provide choice, where feasible, in service delivery including payment methods, location of contact points, opening hours and delivery times. Use available and emerging technologies to ensure maximum access and choice, and quality of delivery.

10. Official Languages Equality

Provide quality services through Irish and/or bilingually and inform customers of their right to choose to be dealt with through one or other of the official languages.

11. Better Co-ordination

Foster a more co-ordinated and integrated approach to delivery of public services.

12. Internal Customer

Ensure that employees are recognised as internal customers and that they are properly supported and consulted with regard to service delivery issues.

Introduction

The Office of the Director of Corporate Enforcement (ODCE) is committed to providing a quality customer service to all members of the public who have dealings with it. The ODCE will constantly review and further improve the standard of services provided.

As a public sector body, the ODCE shares with similar organisations a corporate commitment to the Principles of Quality Customer Service (as set under the Programme for Better Government / Public Service Modernisation Programme / Code of Practice for the Governance of State Bodies). The ODCE is an independent Office under the aegis of the Department of Jobs Enterprise and Innovation. We endorse the analysis and ambitions as set out in the Department's Customer Service Action Plan 2014 – 2016 and will tailor our actions to support the priorities set out therein, consistent with the ODCE's specific legal remit.

Our Customer Action Plan develops the commitments and standards set out in our Customer Charter. This Plan is intended to give effect in the ODCE to the principles of Quality Customer Service. The full achievement of all of these principles will be dependent on relevant and appropriate structures, services and staffing being in place and on the prioritisation of the work programme of the ODCE.

ODCE's Mandate

The ODCE was formally established on 28 November 2001. Its mandate is to improve the compliance environment for corporate activity in the Irish economy by:

- encouraging adherence to the requirements of the Companies Act, and
- bringing to account those who disregard the law.

Insofar as investigation and enforcement are concerned, the main powers of the Director arise in the following areas:

- the initiation of fact-finding company investigations;
- the prosecution of persons for suspected breaches of the Companies Act;
- the supervision of companies in official and voluntary liquidation and of unliquidated insolvent companies;
- the restriction and disqualification of directors and other company officers;
- the supervision of liquidators and receivers, and
- the regulation of undischarged bankrupts acting as company officers.

The impact of the ODCE's work has positive economic and social benefits in reducing business and personal risks in the economy. In doing so, the ODCE will be primarily serving the public interest, rather than acting to remedy individual grievances in the company law area.
